FORMULATING RELIEF WORK PROGRAMME

Details of Schedules for Emergency Undertakings to Be Announced Today

REGULATIONS ARE PASSED BY COUNCIL

Municipalities Must Co-operate With Provincial Gov'ts to Secure Aid

OTTAWA, Sept. 25.—The Government programme for dealing with the unemployment situation in Canada, advanced another step today with the approval by Cabinet of regulations governing the disposition of the $20,000,000 appropriation made at the emergency session of Parliament. Pending approval of the order-in-council by His Excellency the Governor-General, information as to the nature of the terms of the regulations are withheld till tomorrow.

CO-OPERATION ESSENTIAL

It is understood, however, that they follow along the lines already indicated and that Federal grants to the municipalities for meeting unemployment are contingent on a measure of co-operation from them. Applications from the municipalities, it is understood, will be made to the provinces and passed along by them to the Dominion.

The regulations were submitted by Hon. G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labor, to his colleagues at a sitting of Cabinet which lasted until well into the evening.

Other angles of the unemployment situation were discussed earlier in the day when Senator Robertson and Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways, met officials of the great Canadian railways to discuss with them ways and means whereby these systems might assist the Government in its effort to provide work. It is understood that definite conclusions were not arrived at and that there will be a further conference between the Government and the railways. Presumably the discussion centered around the possibility of the railways engaging in construction work of varying nature in order to give employment.

WILL HASTEN WORK

It is anticipated that the Government will be in a position to proceed with its programme for meeting unemployment by the time that provincial delegations from Western Canada arrive in Ottawa. In view of the advanced season it is probable that the Government will lose as little time as possible in initiating work designed to give employment during the winter.

BRITISH ARE ATTRACTED TO THIS COUNTRY

Rt. Rev. C. V. Schofield, Back From Lambeth Conference, Makes Statement

ENGLAND FACING BIG PROBLEMS SERIOUSLY

After a seven months' holiday in Europe, taken primarily in the interests of health, Rt. Rev. C. V. Schofield, Bishop of Columbia, and Mrs. Schofield have returned to Victoria with pleasant memories of their varied travels and experiences, but delighted to be home again.

"One of the pleasantest experiences of all was getting back to Victoria. We are genuinely glad to be home again," his lordship declared in the course of conversation with a Colonist representative who saw him at Bishop's Close yesterday. He is already engaged in diocesan business, and the congregation of Christ Church will hear him for the first time since last February, when he occupies the pulpit at the cathedral next Sunday. A big congregational welcome is being arranged in connection with the Harvest Festival to be held on Monday, October 6, and the following Monday he will give an address on the Lambeth Conference, with incidental reference to other experiences.

Many Questions to Occupy Delegates To Empire Meeting

Agenda for Imperial Conference Shows That a Large Number of Important Subjects, in Addition to Trade, Will Be Discussed by Dominion Representatives at London

Disarmament to Be Debate Subject

By GEORGE HAMELETON Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 25.—With the opening of the Imperial Conference less than a week away, the conference agenda and the list of delegates were made public by the office of the Secretary of State for the Dominions today. As a supplement to the agenda the remarks of Prime Minister Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald, made in the House of Commons two months ago were appended.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 25.—Over an eighty-mile stretch of muskeg and timber country, a quartette of planes soared today in vain quest for some trace of missing Mike Finland, pilot-geologist, who faded into Saskatchewan's North nine days ago. Somewhere between Stanley Mission and Southern, at the base of Deer Lake, it is believed that Finland was forced down—or possibly crashed.

GEOLOGIST MAY HAVE MADE FORCED LANDING

WINNIPEG, Sept. 25.—Over an eighty-mile stretch of muskeg and timber country, a quartette of planes soared today in vain quest for some trace of missing Mike Finland, pilot-geologist, who faded into Saskatchewan's North nine days ago. Somewhere between Stanley Mission and Southern, at the base of Deer Lake, it is believed that Finland was forced down—or possibly crashed.

SEARCH SMALL AREA

Four planes yesterday traced Finland to Stanley Mission, not far north of La Ronge, and later determined that he had not reported at Southern. Now they will direct their efforts to scouring the intervening area.

Finland carried food which would last him for some days.

WAS BORN IN VICTORIA

E. V. Finland, of this city, who is a brother of G. H. Finland, lost in Northern Saskatchewan, has every hope that his brother is safe. He has been in communication with officials of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company, which has many planes now out making search for the missing man.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Finland, formerly of Prospect Lake, and now resident in the city. He is a mining engineer, having graduated from the University of Washington, and is twenty-six years of age.

SUGGESTS BILL TO GOVERNMENT

Capital Beautification Body Prepares Measure for Civic Improvements

PERMANENT COMMISSION

As a preliminary move towards the creation of a comprehensive scheme of beautifying the Capital City of British Columbia, the Capital City Beautification Committee, composed of the four city members of the Legislature and representatives of the City Council and Chamber of Commerce, yesterday authorized the legal branch of the committee to prepare a draft bill, to be submitted to Premier S. F. Tolmie at an early date.

The proposed bill will provide for a permanent commission to administer a fund which would consist of annual Government grants covering a period of five years. The fund will be used solely for the improvement of the Capital City in keeping with its dignity and importance as the legislative centre of the province.

The bill will be based on the Ottawa Improvement legislation and no fixed amount will be written into the measure at this stage, although $25,000 is suggested as the probable figure.

The special committee met yesterday at the City Hall, with the following members present: Alderman W. T. Straith, chairman; Aldermen W. H. Cullen, Robert Smith and J. A. Worthington, representatives of the City Council; J. H. Beatty, H. D. Twigg, R. Hayward, Victoria members of the Provincial Legislature; Alfred Carmichael, P. R. Leighton and C. L. Harrison, representing the Chamber of Commerce. The legal section consists of Alderman W. T. Straith, P. R. Leighton and C. L. Harrison, with Mr. Leighton as chairman.

TRADING POSTS AND CACHES WERE VISITED

WINNIPEG, Sept. 25.—Twenty thousand miles of flying over the world country as far as the Arctic Circle, ended today when two Government survey planes landed on the Red River near Winnipeg. The aerial survey commenced on July 6 from Ottawa.

FLIGHT OF BRITISH AVIATRIX SHROUDED IN GREAT MYSTERY

LONDON, Sept. 25.—Mrs. Victor Bruce, British aviatrix, started from Weston, Middlesex air park, today, on a mystery flight, her single-engine Blue Bird airplane.

The greatest secrecy surrounded her with the intention of flying across Europe to Persia, India, China and Japan. Another said that she was flying to Alexandria and still another reported that she was flying to Capetown. There was flying around the world and would be gone three years.

THREE ELECTROCUTED

PINE BLUFF, Ark., Sept. 25.—Three young men, two of whom were brothers, were electrocuted here early tonight while erecting a radio aerial. They were attempting to string the aerial when it fell across a high tension power line and the resultant short circuit electrocuted them.

LEGEND OF LOST MINE

Thirty years ago a trapper reached Port Hardy with a lump of gold which attracted instant attention, but the source of this mineral was not then found. From this grew the legend of a great lost mine that would one day rival the Sullivan.

A party of prospectors early this year were searching for copper in the region north of Nahwilt Lake when, on returning to Kains Lake, they lost their way in a mist.

In stumbling a bluff to see where the mistake had been made, one of the party kicked away a lump of most and found mineral showings of great promise. The ground was staked, claims recorded and new development to prove the value of the deposit is about to be undertaken.

TURKISH MINISTRY TO BE REORGANIZED

ANCOORA, Sept. 25.—Ismet Pasha, Premier of Turkey since November 1, 1927, tonight handed his resignation to President Mustafa Kemal Pasha. Official circles expected Ismet to be reappointed as Prime Minister and charged with the duty of organizing a new Cabinet.

Hon. N. S. Lougheed, Provincial Minister of Public Works, and Mr. Beatty, conferred in the Hotel Vancouver on the question of building a West Coast highway.

Mr. Lougheed announced that this road will figure in the programme of the tourist trade of Vancouver Island, declared E. V. Beatty, president of the railway company, on his arrival from Victoria.

"Vancouver Island has not only grand scenery and flora that rival those of Norway, fine beaches and a pleasant climate, but it has a historical background that will prove attractive to tourists. We have been aware of these advantages and will keep pace with development of traffic there."

Reward for Identity of Wire Faker

WINNIPEG, Sept. 25.—Seeking to establish identity of the person who sent out spurious reports Tuesday morning that the Canadian Wheat Pool had met financial disaster and been taken over by the Provincial Government, President A. P. White, of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, tonight announced that a reward of $1,000 had been offered for identification of the sender.

Messages announcing financial difficulties of the pool were sent to principal exchanges on two continents and Mr. White believed were timed to depress wheat prices at market openings. They were denied here without delay but observers point to drastic price declines on all markets as proof of their effect. The notes were signed with the names of James Stewart, prominent Winnipeg grain man, who immediately denied sending them.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 25.—Several persons were injured and extensive property damage was done by a series of terrific windstorms that lashed sections of Iowa tonight.

Wire service over the entire area was seriously affected and many communities were cut off from communication for several hours. No loss of life was reported.

RAIN WAS HEAVY

Heavy rainfall, which accompanied the storms, added to the difficulties. Basements of business houses and homes were flooded. Rainfall of 5.39 inches was reported in Iowa City.

Two farm homes were destroyed and considerable damage done to crops by a storm of t-madic proportions at Alta, Iowa.

In Galesburg, Ill., streets were flooded and windows broken by a severe rain and hailstorm.

OTHER STATES HIT

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 25.—Wind, hail and lightning today swept portions of Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma, damaging buildings and lines of communication. No loss of life has yet been reported.

At Norman, Okla., an endurance airplane, flown by Bennett Grifflin and Roy Hunt, of Oklahoma City, was forced down. The flyers had been in the air for 283 hours. A large Western air transport passenger plane also was grounded there.

MOTOR TRAFFIC HALTED

Winds estimated to have a velocity as high as fifty miles an hour swept through Southwest Kansas. Motor car traffic was halted on highways near Wichita and much newly-mown wheat was blown from the ground.

The dome of the observatory of Kansas, at Lawrence, was lifted from its support.

FRENCH STILL HOPE FOR PACT WITH ITALIANS

Failure of Naval Experts to Agree Does Not Terminate Negotiations

FINAL SUCCESS HELD AS HIGHLY PROBABLE

PARIS, Sept. 25.—Interruption of negotiations between the French and Italians in Geneva concerning naval armaments is regarded in French circles as not amounting to a rupture.

Talks between experts, it was said in official circles today, could not in any case have resulted in an agreement. The experts are expected merely to find a basis on which the Governments could negotiate.

GOV'TS WILL ACT

The experts, having failed to find such a basis during their discussions at Geneva, the question will be taken up by the two Governments. It was said that there had been little expectation in Paris that much would be done at Geneva. Both in Paris and Rome the situation was regarded as impossible for the moment, because France cannot consent to full parity while Premier Mussolini's prestige is so engaged that he cannot at present abandon his demand for it.

MORE TIME NEEDED

After the lapse of a little more time and with possible changes in the general situation, it is hoped here that a compromise may be reached. It was indicated that the French were quite willing to consent to full parity for Italy in the Mediterranean, but the official feeling is that no Government could consent to reduction of the fleet so that the Italians could overwhelm any force the French could assemble in those waters.

CZECH FASCISTS RIOT IN PRAGUE

PRAGUE, Sept. 25.—Attacks by Czech Fascists against Germans and Jews broke out tonight as a result of racial feeling.

Police made a hundred arrests. Shop and theatre windows, offices of newspapers and the secretariat of the German party were bombarded with stones.

STUDY NEED OF NEW BRIDGE ON FRASER RIVER

Hon. N. S. Lougheed Directs
Inquiry Into Mainland
Traffic Problem

ACTION IS PROMISED EARLY IN NEW YEAR

Bridge requirements to care for growing traffic into Vancouver across the Fraser River are now under active investigation by the Department of Public Works, under Hon. N. S. Lougheed, it was learned here yesterday. Early action will have to be taken on a new bridge across the river, and provision for this may be included in the 1931 road loan when the Legislature meets again, it is stated.

Loss of the 300-foot span at the Second Narrows bridge recently focused renewed attention on bridge facilities. Brantford Island or Ladner are mentioned as alternative sites for a new bridge, which is described as an immediate necessity, must be followed at some future date by another bridge farther up the river.

If the Brantford Island site is selected the Government may invite the Canadian National Railways to build the new link as a railway bridge, with separate provision for motor traffic. Under this proposal the New Westminster bridge would be remodelled for auto traffic exclusively.

The province has a twenty-year contract with the Canadian National, Great Northern, Northern Pacific and British Columbia railway systems as to running rights over the New Westminster bridge. This contract can be cancelled by giving adequate notice on either side. The railways pay tolls for the use of the bridge and rail traffic to a new site, either as a joint undertaking or on some other basis. Three bridges at Brantford Island, New Westminster and Ladner will be required before long to care for traffic entering Vancouver, it is believed. Hon. N. S. Lougheed has the matter personally under advisement at this time.

There will also be several advisers, including Hon. Maurice Dupre, Solicitor-General, while Hon. C. This group of men represents some of the best brains of the Empire, and the personnel of the conference is held to present a good augury for the success of a crucial Empire gathering at a crucial time. Law and economics will be the two main subject matters of the conference and both realms will have able exponents.

PIONEER SETTLER IS DEAD AT VANCOUVER

John B. Tiffen, Resident of Province Since 1877, Passes Away at Ripe Age

VANCOUVER, Sept. 25.—John B. Tiffen, a resident of British Columbia since 1877 and one of Vancouver's best known pioneer citizens, died at noon today, aged eighty-two. His wife died here four years ago.

About a decade ago the deceased, then largely interested in cattle raising in the Cariboo, met with an accident at his ranch which broke his neck, but he survived.

Mr. Tiffen was educated in the public schools of Ontario, and for a number of years farmed in that province, until in 1877 he came to British Columbia.

In 1878 he engaged in the lumber business and was president of the Red Cedar Lumber Company.

He took deep interest in public affairs and for a time served as a director of the Vancouver Exhibition Association. He was a licence commissioner for Vancouver in 1908, and was an ex-president of the Vancouver Amateur Driving Association. In politics he was a Conservative. In religion he was a member of the Church of England in Canada, and was a member of Cascade Lodge, A.F. & A.M., and of the Canadian Club.

GULLIVER DOES NOT PORTRAY DEAN SWIFT

Interpretative Writer Shows How Famous Dean Shot Barbs at British Politics

MONTREAL, Sept. 25.—A correspondent who writes in The Gazette's "fourth column," under the initials "M.T." has the following interpretation of Dean Swift's celebrated "Gulliver's Travels." The key to the political interpretation of this famous satire is to remember that Gulliver himself does not mean Dean Swift. Gulliver is a very famous personage, no less than Henry St. John, Lord Bolingbroke, statesman, philosopher and political leader. At the time of the accession of King George I. Bolingbroke was forced out of power, driven into exile across the Channel into France. There he married a French lady, bought an estate not far from Orleans, resided many years, and carried on many of his activities in France.

Afterwards he returned to England, where he died in the year 1751. Gulliver, it will be remembered, after being formally impeached by the high councilors of the island of the Lilliputians, was driven to take refuge at the court of the neighboring country of Blefuscu. The island of Lilliputia, of course, is none other than the tiny little island of England, the Empire of the Lilliputians across the channel from the island of France.

The capture of the Blefuscuian fleet, and the refusal of Gulliver to push the contest to extremities, refer to the circumstances of the Treaty of Utrecht in 1713. This was a landmark in the events of Canadian history. This treaty "fairly established the naval preponderance of England, and destroyed the colonial empire of France." Lord Bolingbroke was a great man, and a powerful leader, tied up with all sorts of strings, entanglements and wires, by wire-pulling little politicians; such was the fate of Gulliver among the Lilliputians.

Dean Swift himself, of course, was the king of the Broodingnags. The land of the Broodingnags was none other than the Dean's own study, in Dublin, in connection with St. Patrick's Cathedral. This land was the true native abode of magnificent ideas and of great thoughts. Across the sea in England, carrying out negotiations about French treaties, and curbing the French navy, Bolingbroke was a giant among the pygmies. Over here in Ireland, and in the Dean's own study, he was a dwarfed into a pygmy among the giants. Although, so far as I know he was never actually in the study, except in mere idea. Over there in England and among the little politicians, the great statesman found himself captured and tied down, and thwarted by small schemes. Here in Ireland and in the Dean's own study he was captivated by great ones.

This was a landmark in the events of Canadian history. This treaty "fairly established the naval preponderance of England, and destroyed the colonial empire of France." Lord Bolingbroke was a great man, and a powerful leader, tied up with all sorts of strings, entanglements and wires, by wire-pulling little politicians; such was the fate of Gulliver among the Lilliputians.

Dean Swift himself, of course, was the king of the Broodingnags. The land of the Broodingnags was none other than the Dean's own study, in Dublin, in connection with St. Patrick's Cathedral. This land was the true native abode of magnificent ideas and of great thoughts. Across the sea in England, carrying out negotiations about French treaties, and curbing the French navy, Bolingbroke was a giant among the pygmies. Over here in Ireland, and in the Dean's own study, he was a dwarfed into a pygmy among the giants. Although, so far as I know he was never actually in the study, except in mere idea. Over there in England and among the little politicians, the great statesman found himself captured and tied down, and thwarted by small schemes. Here in Ireland and in the Dean's own study he was captivated by great ones.

ACTION TAKEN TO PRECLUDE DUTY EVASION

Importers Must Make Affidavit Goods Were Ordered Prior to Tariff Changes

REGULATIONS WILL PROTECT CANADIANS

OTTAWA, Sept. 25.—Careful checks on the transactions made by Canadian importers under the section of the new tariff, which permits bona fide contracts for goods to escape the higher duties until November 30 will be made by the Department of National Revenue. It has been announced by Hon. E. B. Ryckman, the minister in charge. Under regulations issued today, the department will demand from the importer a copy of the original purchase order attested to by affidavit and, in addition, proof of acceptance prior to September 16 last of the order of the exporters.

TO PREVENT FRAUD

The new tariff bill was amended in Parliament by Premier R. B. Bennett so as to permit importers to bring into the country under the old rates until November 30 goods which had been on order prior to September 16. The new regulations will attempt to prevent fraud in this connection. Heavy penalties have been set for infringing the provisions of the new regulations, which include seizure and forfeiture of the goods or a fine equal to the value of the goods and further prosecution in the courts.

The regulations are aimed at unscrupulous importers falsifying dates of purchase and antedating orders. Mr. Ryckman said today when announcing the rulings. Fear that the full benefit of the recent tariff changes might be lost through such fraud had been expressed to him by Canadian producers. The view had been placed before him, he added, that such a large quantity of goods might be brought into the country that Canadian production might be hampered, thus defeating the goal of the tariff changes—that of relieving unemployment in this country.

PROOF OF CONTRACT

The regulations prescribing proof of bona fide purchase by contract prior to September 16 require the following copy of original purchase order attested to by affidavit of importer and acceptance thereof by the exporter prior to September 16. It was stated further: "No purchase order will be accepted as bona fide which does not specify definite quantity or quantities with definite price or prices and provide for delivery in Canada on or before November 30, 1930."

UNITED CHURCH NAMES EXECUTIVE OF COUNCIL

LONDON, Sept. 25.—The General Council of the United Church of Canada tonight concluded its session after a hurried day in which scores of items were passed over at record speed. A five-minute limit was rigidly applied to all speeches by commissioners and debating lost the zest of Wednesday, when unemployment and liquor questions were considered by the council.

Members at large elected to the executive of the General Council were: Rev. George C. Pidgeon, Toronto; E. Leslie Pigeon, Montreal; J. W. Woodside, Ottawa; W. T. G. Brown, Ottawa; M. A. MacKinnon, Toronto; W. R. Young, Hamilton; and two laymen, Hon. N. W. Rowell, Toronto, and Hon. E. J. Davis, Newmarket. Together with the moderator, Rev. Principal E. H. Oliver, Saskatoon; the secretary, Rev. T. Albert Moore, and the treasurer, Rev. Robert Laird, of Toronto, these officers will form the governing body of the United Church of Canada until the next meeting of the general committee in 1932. Thirty-one other members of the executive had been already elected by conference and the various administrative boards.

A strong-minded woman and a weakly gentleman came on board a transatlantic liner. The pale gentleman retired to his cabin, and the strong woman tucked him up with shawls. Then she strode on deck and hailed the captain. "Well, ma'am," asked the skipper, "my husband is particularly liable to sea-sickness, captain," said the woman. The skipper nodded. "I've heard of the complaint before, ma'am," he said. "Could you tell him what to do in case of an attack?" asked the burly woman. "Taint necessary, ma'am," replied the skipper. "He'll do it!"

A rather pathetic story about Charlie Chaplin was told recently. In the days when he and his brother Syd were struggling towards fame, Charlie always wore old clothes, whereas Syd was smart and immaculate. The latter was always trying to persuade the comedian of the future to buy new clothes, but Charlie preferred comfort to smartness.

One day Syd took him in to buy a new pair of shoes. "How are your socks, Charlie?" he asked nervously, as they went in. "One's all right," replied Charlie. But when the assistant brought shoes for him to try on, Charlie took off the wrong shoe. He was wearing only half a sock, and Syd walked out in disgust.

SUNSHINE REPLACES SNOW AND RAIN OVER PRAIRIE PROVINCES

WINNIPEG, Sept. 25.—Winter has gone from the Prairies and it's just Autumn again today. The area of depression that brought snow and rain to Alberta and Saskatchewan during the last two days has lifted to the northeast. Today, the chill blast of a snow-laden gale is being borne to Churchill, the West's port on Hudson Bay.

After thirty-six hours of work, telegraph companies have remedied the bulk of the damage wrought by snow and sleet on wires stretching across the Alberta-Saskatchewan border line. Snow and rain clouds have lifted from the Western sky and clear weather prevails. It remains, however, the keen edge of Autumn's chillness.

ROTARIANS SUPPORT PARK IMPROVEMENT

Beautification of Beacon Hill Will Be Brought Before Service Clubs' Council

tion endorsing the project was in record yesterday as warmly endorsing the efforts of the City Council to beautify Beacon Hill Park. The matter will be brought before the Service Clubs' Council. The resolution endorsing the project was introduced by Alfred Carmichael, and supported by E. Tomlin and Thomas Walker, at the luncheon in the Empress Hotel.

Rev. M. W. J. Bruce, president of the Victoria club, referred in glowing terms to the excellence of the Rotary Pageant now in progress at the Armories on Bay Street, and noted that His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor had expressed his admiration of the artistic performance given by the girls of Victoria.

The luncheon concluded with an amusing burlesque of a combined mock trial, classification talk and salesmanship contest by T. J. Goodlake, A. V. Clarke, and several other members. W. Kenny, manager of the Kresge Departmental Store, was welcomed as a new member of the club.

News and Notes of the Interior

McINTOSH REDS GO OUT

KELOWNA.—It is estimated that the initial shipment of the McIntosh Red released from the valley by order of the Interior Committee of Direction on Monday night, are considerably less than the large number of carloads contained in the exodus of last year when the first of the McIntoshes were started on their long roll to eastern markets. According to figures obtained from the railway company, 207 cars of this popular variety left Kelowna on Monday night or early Tuesday morning on their trek to the coast, but the figures are incomplete as, in the case of the Canadian Pacific, the shipments from the northern section of the valley are not included. However, local fruit men estimate that total shipments from the valley and main line are little in excess of 200 carloads.

SALMON IN KOOTENAY

NELSON.—Spring salmon are already in the Kootenay rivers on their spawning run, many weeks earlier than usual, and the spawning beds in the tributaries of Lake Windermere, 1,300 miles from the sea, have been in use for a couple of weeks. C. H. Robinson, Fisheries Inspector for the district, states. The fish are also in the Slocan Creek, near Slocan City, and in the Kettle River in the boundary country.

PENTICTON LAND DEAL

PENTICTON.—Sale of the Bonney Davis property here to Charles Stewart of Victoria, is announced, the price being $16,000. Mr. Stewart will come to Penticton on December 1. Mr. Davis plans to leave shortly for England.

NORTHERN FOREST FIRES

SMITHERS.—While the forest fire situation is far from being satisfactory, there is a more hopeful condition as a result of recent rains and ensuing cold. The past few weeks have presented problems for forestry officials that were of an exceptionally acute nature, from the fact that dangerous outbreaks occurred in widely separated parts of the district.

MANY CLAIMS STAKED

NELSON.—During the past month the recording of mineral claims have kept up remarkably well. Irving Creek, Wild Horse Creek and Porcupine Creek were the locations of many of the claims recorded during the month.

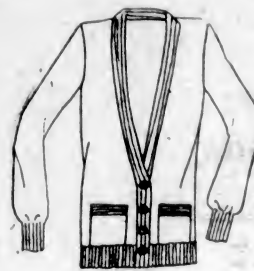

FAST TRAVEL BY AIR

GRAND FORKS.—The popularity of the air route grows apace. On Monday M. W. Archibald, manager for the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, left the train from Vancouver at Penticton, and taking his private plane, flown by Pilot McPhee, was in Trail an hour later, thus saving a business day. On Tuesday the same pilot took Mrs. Archibald off the train from the coast at Midway and flew, presumably, for the Archibald home at Creston, where they would arrive in about an hour's time. It would have taken Mrs. Archibald about twenty hours to make the same trip by train.

Leader of Fascists Plays German Gov't In Stirring Answer

Adolf Hitler Denies He Has Plans to Stage Putsch—
Says Party Will Conquer by Legal Means—
Predicts Success

By NEALEY PARSON
(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

LEIPZIG, Germany, Sept. 25.—The fiery Fascist, Adolf Hitler, gave the groggy German Government another brutal slamming today when, his voice rising to a roar like a train in a tunnel, he declared:

"We are not crazy enough to stage a putsch! We have not the implement. We intend to conquer by legal means. How can anyone expect a putsch, when our movement has already grown to 107 seats? At the next elections we will probably have 150 or even 200—probably even have a majority ourselves."

TESTIFIES FOR PARTY
The scene was the Supreme Court at Leipzig, in Saxony. In the soft and richly carved oak room, Herr Hitler's voice roared like a loudspeaker to the entire German nation. Such, in fact, is actually the case, for Herr Hitler is obviously using this opportunity to testify in the defence of three Reichswehr officers under trial to put it indelibly on record that the National Socialists are a legal party and intend to secure their victory by such means.

Pointing his finger through the leaded, stained-glass windows, the Fascist leader declared:

"Other German political parties, when they got into office, have been contenting themselves with petty reforms, but we will bring about a real spiritual revolution. It is the German people that we wish to protect, to protect as a living entity, so that we shall last to the end of the world—and when we come to power there will be a day of judgment for those who betrayed their country in 1918, and heads will roll in the sands."

WILL ALTER TREATIES
"The German people must learn that the State is only an instrument to serve them. To the parties in the present Government, the State seems to have been accepted as a god itself."

On the vital question of the treaties, Herr Hitler said that when the National Socialists came to power they would also try to bring about a complete revolution in these. They enslaved the German people and the Nationalists wanted to set them free, he declared.

"For this work," Herr Hitler declared, "the Reichswehr is a necessary instrument. Tell me, therefore, how anyone can say truthfully that we wish to destroy it. It should be obvious that we cannot afford to."

IS TERRIFICALLY ALIVE
The tense, crowded courtroom hung on Herr Hitler's words, and throughout over two hours of testimony the leaded windows merely muffled the sounds of intermittent cheering from the square outside the court. The demonstration outside was small, however. A peaceful crowd of some 2,000 was kept in order by the strict Saxon police.

It is easy to see where Herr Hitler gets his grip on young German manhood. He is young himself, blue-eyed, firm of cheek, solid and driving—and terrifically alive.

Herr Hitler's and others' testimony in this momentous trial itself appears to be bringing out one extremely significant fact—the power of the German Republic has become so strong that it compels even the most extremist parties to acknowledge its laws and limit their activities to legal means. The Hitlerites' amazing success probably reconciled them to this fact.

ANTI-VIVISECTION MEETING TONIGHT
David Leeming will preside at the public meeting to be held tonight at the New Thought Hall, Fort Street, under the auspices of the Anti-Vivisection Society. A. S. Murphy, M.D. (Harvard), president of the Vancouver Anti-Vivisection Society, will be the speaker, the subject of his address being one of common interest, "Serum and Vaccine Therapy." Miss G. Shrapnell, Dr. W. Bryce and Mr. J. Pudney will contribute to the programme. Discussion is invited at the close of the address by Dr. Murphy.

Complete End to Civil War Expected as Nanking Gov't Acts

By ROYAL SWEETLAND
(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

HANKOW, Sept. 25.—With the prospect of an end to the civil war in sight and with Nanking sending thousands of troops here to be pushed up the Peiping-Hankow railroad for the purpose of hastening a conclusion of things near Chengchow, Hankow for the first time in many weeks feels a sense of relief.

Termination of the war here is seen as giving Nanking an opportunity to weaken the stronghold the Communists have around this city and others in the middle Yangtze Valley, including Ichang, Shashi and Changsha, whose tremendous volume of foreign exports has been reduced almost to the vanishing point.

Nanking's first act is expected to be the strengthening of local garrisons for pushing the Red armies into the hinterland, for it is felt unlikely that the movement will be altogether set back here.

Although optimism prevails, precautions against an outbreak have not lessened. For example, thousands of coolies are working under military instructions digging new trenches around Kiukiang, important Yangtze River port, while Hankow foreigners still witness the mad careening of the execution squad through the streets. This consists of a light auto truck loaded with a dozen soldiers bearing rifles and execution swords, dashing from one point to another where summary justice is meted out to any accused of holding Communist doctrines.

Foreigners here are sickened with sight of headless corpses of youths and girls upon the main thoroughfares of the business and residential sections.

Other precautions consist of armed naval and army guards on foreign passenger vessels plying the river, due to Communist gun nests pouring hand-made shells and bullets into passing ships, especially at points between Kiukiang and Hankow. Vessels passing through this particular zone arrive with the funnels bullet-riddled but little other damage.

HAD MACHINE GUN
The vessel on which the writer arrived here carried eight British soldiers who spent the last night of the voyage on their stomachs on deck, cowering a Lewis gun in pitch dark waiting for a fusillade which never eventuated. These soldiers were later transferred to upper river vessels to protect foreign passengers en route to Szechuan ports, 800 miles up river from here.

Though the Communists are not creating the scare of the last few weeks, they are warlike nonetheless, taking smaller villages and cutting the Hankow-Changsha railroad every few days. It is believed here that they are waiting until the Ssang River, upon which Changsha is located, is sufficiently low to prohibit regular patrol for foreign gunboats.

It is hoped that Nanking will be able to give the finishing touches to the war, thereby releasing troops to counteract the menace before the Reds recapture Changsha.

Obituary

GRIFFIN—There passed away on Thursday morning at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, Arthur Rendell Griffin, aged sixty-two years, of Gladia Avenue, Saanich. LADY CAMERON PASSES AWAY AT VANCOUVER

Widow of Former Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba Was Well Known Here

VANCOUVER, Sept. 25.—Lady Margaret Cameron, widow of the late Sir Douglas Cameron, former Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, died here today at the home of her son, Leslie F. Cameron. Death was sudden, caused by heart trouble.

Since the death of her husband nine years ago, Lady Cameron has lived a retired life in Vancouver and Victoria.

Born in Ontario on April 23, 1856, she was educated and spent her girlhood in Montreal. Following her marriage in 1878 she went to Manitoba and for many years resided in Winnipeg.

Besides her son, Leslie Cameron, she is survived by two other children, D. Lorne Cameron, Vancouver, and Mrs. Homer Dickson, Victoria. Funeral services will be held on Saturday, 2:30 o'clock, in St. Mary's Church. Following the ceremony the remains will be cremated and the ashes taken by the deceased's sons to Winnipeg, where they will be laid beside the grave of her husband.

New Apartment Site
As there appears to be some misunderstanding regarding the site of the proposed quarter-million dollar apartment house to be built in Oak Bay, officials of the company state that the apartment is to be constructed on the site of the old Oak Bay hotel, the Mount Baker, which was used by King George, when, as the Duke of York, he visited Victoria. The Mount Baker was burned some years ago.

AL FRIEDMAN LOSES
BOSTON, Sept. 25.—Al Friedman, of Boston, lost a close verdict to Jack Gagnon, also a Boston heavyweight, in their return bout in the Boston Arena here tonight. The contest, a repetition of their first bout, was hard fought throughout, but the decisions failed to satisfy a majority of the fans.

Rotary Pageant Attracts Two Thousand Spectators To Bay Street Armories

Colorful and Amusing Fete Will Be Repeated Tonight and Saturday

The Armories, Bay Street, presented a scene of good-natured pandemonium last evening when two thousand patrons of the Rotary Club's "Pageant of Nations," organized on behalf of the Queen Alexandra Hospital for crippled children and kindred benevolence, surged clamorously round the cheerful and noisy side-shows which were thrown open after the main entertainment of the night came to an end.

It is no belittlement of the main pageant to comment on the popularity of these secondary attractions. While the colorful procession of girls, garbed in costumes symbolic of all the leading countries of the world, wound and unwound its way about the great floor to the accompaniment of inspiring patriotic music played by the Victoria Girls' Band, the crowd looked on, admiring and applauding. But the moment the final tableau broke and the brilliant kaleidoscope of flag colors dissolved in a twinkling, the throngs of marching performers, the onlookers scattered pell-mell toward the brightly lighted nuclei of attraction that rimmed the hall, and joined their voices to the cheerful medley of sound created by auctioneer and vendor.

Candy stall and tea booth, "house-house" and tombola, "dead-even" and lot machines, cigarette and candy shop, and half a dozen other rendezvous held their ever-shifting queues of patrons, and until close upon midnight the energetic Rotarians continued to gather in the eagerly proffered moneys of the amusement seekers.

The entertainment will continue for two more nights, and already has the authorized advertisement of the pleased thousands who have attended the first two performances.

SUCCESSION DUTIES SUBJECT OF DISPUTE
Court Case Involves Point as to What Constitutes Legal Adoption of Child
A legal dispute as to whether the province of British Columbia is entitled to collect succession duties on a part of the estate of Dr. William Redmond bequeathed to a thirteen-year-old child, hearing the matter in the Supreme Court yesterday. The dispute is between the British Columbia government, which claims the right to collect the duties, and the executor of the estate, who claims that the child is not a legal heir.

THE PAGEANT
Promptly at 8:15 o'clock the programme began with an exhibition of tumbling, staged by the Y.M.C.A. band, directed by Archie McKinnon and Harry Robson. This was followed by a most spectacular and colorful display of a finished technique in gymnastics which is highly creditable to the gymnastic department of the association.

The pageant which followed presented "Rotary" through a splendid panoply of color. At one end of the grand auditorium, in an embrasure framed in dark blue and gold pillars and lined with black, stood "Miss Rotary," represented by Kathleen Bono, extending the hand of friendship and greeting to the nations. Her magnificent robes of gold and brocade, fashioned in the style of Isabelle of Spain, with high Medici collar, were strikingly displayed when she left her dais and advanced down the hall to greet the delegates, who were seen to wear a regal train of dark purple, held by two dignified little pages, Vera Woodley and Nellie White.

Returning to her dais, Miss Rotary watched the pageant with attentive approval which the plaudits of the spectators endorsed. The newer nations which have entered the pageant were first represented: Venezuela, Panama, Switzerland, China, Cuba, Mexico, Bermuda, Peru, Bolivia, Chile, Colombia and Belgium. The impersonations being entrusted to charming girls robed in the flags of the respective countries.

ROYALTY WELCOME
The nations which have been in Rotary for longer time were next represented, heralding peace on earth and good will, while the flags of all nations ultimately blended in unity. These nations, each represented by several girls with leaders, were Great Britain, Canada, United States, Italy, Spain, Argentina, Japan, Germany, France and Norway. These larger nations' representatives emerged from the great Rotary hall stationed in the middle of the floor, each carrying her flag. The ambassadors of the respective countries next joined the pageant, a blast of trumpets and roll of drums announced the entering of the nations embraced by Rotary, the International leaders.

School Taxation—With reference to a resolution from the Revelstoke Municipal Council, urging that there should be some alleviation of taxes to real property for school purposes, to be submitted at the forthcoming convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, the Oak Bay Council last night expressed its sympathy with the move, but could not endorse the entire resolution without careful consideration of all the clauses. The matter was left to the discretion of the delegates from Oak Bay to the convention.

Invitations have been extended to the Lieutenant-Governor, Premier S. F. Tolmie, Mayor Herbert Aspinall and other Government and civic officials to be present and to give addresses. An effort will be made to have the school children parade on the grounds for the singing of "O Canada."

Explains How Enlarged Veins Can Be Reduced
Often times veins burst and cause much suffering, expense and loss of employment.

Many people have become despondent because they have been led to believe that there is no remedy that will reduce swollen veins and bunches.

If you will get a two-ounce original bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength) at MacFarlane or Drug Co., the Owl Drug Store, or any first-class drug store, and apply it at home as directed, you will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.

Moore's Emerald Oil, which has brought much comfort to worried people all over the country, is one of the wonderful discoveries of recent years, and anyone who is disappointed with its use can have his money refunded.

PREDICTS SPELL OF RAIN AS RESULT OF NORTHERLY TEMPEST

A considerable quantity of rain, in the form of intermittent showers, may be expected in Victoria for the next few days, according to F. Napier Denison, superintendent of the Dominion Meteorological Observatory at Gonzales. This rain, states Mr. Denison, may be attributed to ocean storms centred off Prince Rupert.

Mr. Denison points out that it is rather early in the year to expect any bad storms, but there is every probability of an abundance of rain.

ARTHUR HAYDAY WILL HEAD BRITISH UNIONS

LONDON, Sept. 25.—A man who started work in a market garden at nine years of age and soon after rose to the position of a kitchen boy, has been chosen president of the British Union of the Trades and Labor Unions.

He is Arthur Hayday, member of Parliament for West Nottingham since 1918. Mr. Hayday has been a paid trades union official for forty years. He is sixty-one years of age and rejoices in a family of fifteen children. He has been married twice.

In Supreme Court

Two applications were made in Supreme Court Chambers here. They were in proceedings taken by John Arbutnot against J. R. Green and the Consumers' Coal Company. C. H. O'Halloran was counsel for the plaintiff in each case and D. S. Tait appeared for the Consumers' Coal Company.

In his application for further particulars of the affairs of the latter company, Mr. Tait said he had given all that he was able to do at present. It was stated the books were in the hands of the Attorney-General. Chief Justice Morrison suggested that perhaps Mr. Tait might be able to obtain from the books all the information required, and allowed ten days' adjournment to allow this examination to be made.

The will of M. Auguste Pasquier, who had it engraved on the leg of a dining-room chair, was recently probated in Paris.

WOMEN SEEK RIGHT TO SERVE AS ELDERS

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 25.—The fifth general council of the United Church of Canada will meet at Hamilton in 1932. It was decided today. An invitation from the major and citizens of Calgary was read out, but on a vote between the two cities Hamilton received a majority.

Congregations and presbyteries of the United Church will be asked to decide whether women may be ordained as elders.

It was moved by Mrs. A. D. Miller, of Edmonton, seconded by Mrs. G. H. Bennee, of Balcarres, Sask., that an amendment to the basis of union be submitted to congregations and presbyteries, substituting the words "members in full membership" for the word "men" in the clauses which limit those eligible for the eldership.

Resolutions of greeting to veteran ministers of the church were passed by general council and will be forwarded to Rev. W. T. McMullen, of Woodstock, former moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, who is now in his 100th year; to Rev. James Patterson, of Montreal, who has reached 100, and to Rev. William Ryan, of Bridgewater, N.S., aged ninety-seven.

The council began to make speed this morning in an attempt to finish its sessions by Friday night.

FINDS INSTITUTE IS BEING WELL MANAGED

Adam Bell Completes Investigation of Treatment of Blind in British Columbia

Unstinted praise for the co-operation received from the Canadian National Institute for the Blind is contained in a report by Adam Bell, made to Hon. S. L. Howe recently, after an investigation into the treatment of those devoid of sight in the province.

Mr. Bell finds that the employees in the broom factory at Vancouver are giving good measure for the day's work, and that no indication of harshness enters into their treatment in any particular.

The commissioner makes a number of minor recommendations and advocates that greater prominence be given to the publication of the annual statements of the institute and its work generally.

The cost of administration, while high, appeared to have been justified by the service rendered, Mr. Bell states.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Sept. 26.—Miss Jewel Ferguson, eighteen-year-old daughter of Sergeant Ferguson, a leading Sydney police official, is to be rewarded by the Government for making one of the most sensational civilian arrests for many years.

Single-handed she marched a desperate criminal, for whom police had been searching the whole state, to the lockup.

Miss Ferguson arrived home from a dance, hearing a noise in her father's study, crept down the hall and saw the criminal perusing her father's papers and confidential police records. Without alarming the sleeping man she reached upward where some of her father's hunting trophies were hanging and took down a long-handled wild pig dagger.

Pricking her captive in the back from time to time to prevent him turning round, she marched him to the watch house with his hands stretched above his head.

A woman's watch which once belonged to George Stephenson, the railway pioneer, has been stolen from Poyle Manor, near Staines, England.

SUNSET is a Concentrated Dye
In the little cake of Sunset you'll find a concentrated quality dye that does a lot of dyeing. Sunset is not the ordinary aniline dye in an envelope—Sunset has in it the best quality, fast dye and lots of it.
But Sunset goes farther; it is a combination, all-purpose dye—dyes all fabrics in one dye bath. And not only does it dye perfectly—but dyes them the same shade at one and the same time. Cleans the fabrics too in the same operation.
Sunset in every one of its 22 shades and colors gives a true, even color that rivals the work of professional dyers at one-fourth the cost!
Sunset is easy to use, is clean, never spots stains or stains the hands—no fuss—no bother—no

WOMEN'S TUBERCULAR WARD NEARLY READY

Men's Section to Be Remodeled, Providing Two months' time, Private Rooms

Progress in connection with the Women's Tubercular Ward at the Royal Jubilee Hospital was referred to yesterday by Captain George McGregor, president of the board of directors. He stated that the addition was up, the roof on, and the first coat of plaster applied. The architect, C. E. Watkins, and the contractors, McKinstry & Hume, were pushing the completion of the section and it would be ready for occupancy in two months' time.

As soon as the new section is ready, Captain McGregor stated, the work of remodeling the present ward would be proceeded with. This work would be divided into semi-private rooms. When completed, while both these wards of the hospital will be separate, they will be in close proximity and connected so as to facilitate the care of tubercular patients. The work on the tubercular ward will be in the neighborhood of $25,000.

The remodeling of the Strathcona Ward is nearly complete and will be ready in two weeks, Captain McGregor further stated. When finished this ward will be utilized for the accommodation of patients as the sections of the hospital now occupied are unable to take care of the demands made upon them.

Chapter Holds Dance
NANAIMO, Sept. 25.—More than two hundred couples attended a dance sponsored by the Malaspina Chapter, I.O.D.E. in the Odd Fellows' Hall last evening.

The event took the form of an autumn dance, the decorative scheme being particularly effective. Virginia creper shaded the lighting effects, while crepe paper in the various autumn shades adorned the walls. An original tone was given the general decorative scheme by the use of goblin cut-outs, which served to enhance the seasonal theme.

The committee in charge included Mrs. R. Jackson, Misses Estelle Hirst, Dorothy Carroll, H. Hallie, H. Patterson, N. Dunn, H. Ewings, F. Saunders, A. Stephenson, L. Piper, D. Devlin, E. Malone, G. Hindmarch and Mrs. S. Devlin.

Municipal Chapter Resumes Meetings For Autumn Season

A cordial greeting was expressed by Mrs. Heben Gillespie, regent of Municipal Chapter, to members who attended the first meeting of the Fall season yesterday afternoon, at which much important business was discussed. A letter of congratulation was sent to Mrs. Alan Campbell upon her recovery from a serious illness, flowers having been sent to her from the chapter.

The regent reported having presented the silver challenge cup for the '31 relay race won by the Girls' Central School, and Mrs. Gillespie will arrange the presentation of colors which have been donated to the Sea Cadets by the Municipal Chapter. The primary chapters are urged to assist the Sea Cadets with their tag day, Saturday, October 11, as they need funds to equip their new headquarters.

An invitation was received by Municipal Chapter to attend the Trafalgar Day celebration at Parliament Square on October 21, at 10 a.m., and standard-bearers are urged to report for duty on that occasion. The chapter voted the sum of $100 from the proceeds of Alexandra Rose Day for the upkeep of the Provincial I.O.D.E. cot at the Queen Alexandra Solarium, also for the maternity ward of the Pender Harbor Hospital, which was a request sent in by the Sir Matthew Baillie Begbie Chapter, which has shown a deep interest in the project.

The appointment of Mrs. Brake as convener of British films was confirmed by the meeting, and members were asked to support British films showing in the city. It was suggested that on October 23 the monthly meeting be held as one of the customary get-together meetings of the Municipal Chapter, with refreshments at the Y.W.C.A. Primary chapters agreeing to this arrangement are requested to notify the municipal secretary, Mrs. A. E. Hopkins. Mrs. Heben Gillespie was appointed the delegate to attend the semi-annual meeting of the Provincial Chapter, to be held at Burnaby on October 16.

New Cult Explained
Mrs. Ransom-Kehler addressed the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club on Wednesday evening, discussing the Bahai movement, a religious cult founded during the last century by a descendant of the ancient royal city of Persia. The speaker represented the movement at the Institute of Pacific Relations held in Tokyo last year. The movement was founded upon the principle of world brotherhood, the speaker explained. She also described the temple erected to the cult in Chicago, called the Maresh Al Adkar, meaning the "summit of God's praise." Mrs. Spurr moved a vote of thanks and presented the speaker with a corsage bouquet. Mrs. Willis seconded the vote.

Members of Club to Be Hosts at Dance
The Get Acquainted Club will hold a dance on Tuesday, September 30, and handsome prizes are being donated for the various contests. George Byrdone, as master of ceremonies, has some surprises for the dancers and a good orchestra has been engaged. The Shrine Auditorium has been fitted with a special ventilating system and preparations are being made for a record crowd.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 25.—Authorities here today believed that a new attempt has been made against the life of General Plutarco Elias Calles, former Mexican president.

A few days ago, while he was en route to his ranch, El Mantle, a bridge was burned ahead of the railroad train carrying his special car. The burned bridge was discovered soon enough to prevent harm to the former president, but the miscreants have not been apprehended or their identity learned.

The Little Man
Used to be a cranky boy. Things didn't seem to go right. Not any longer! Someone suggested Nestlé's Evaporated Milk. Now he's a regular little man—strong legs—loads of energy—sunny disposition—all because he's getting the proper food.

And here's the Reason! Nestlé's Evaporated Milk is just the best of fresh cow's milk with part of the water removed—then sealed and sterilized in air-tight containers. Add water again and you have absolutely pure, safe milk—but more readily digestible than ordinary milk because the large fat globules of the milk have been broken up into small ones of the same size as in Mother's milk. Also, the curd which forms in the stomach when Nestlé's Evaporated Milk is used are soft and flaky and therefore easily digestible.

Use Nestlé's Evaporated Milk for Your Baby. Use it in coffee—in cocoa—in tea. Use it in all cooking and as a beverage by diluting with one to two parts water.

Cards Need One More Victory to Clinch National League Pennant

Move Another Step Nearer Title When They Down Pirates

20,000 Fans See Cards Defeat Pittsburgh, 9-0—Chicago Keeps in Running by 4-3 Victory Over Cincinnati

T. Louis Cards moved another step nearer the National League pennant as they trounced the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9 to 0, today. Chicago's second-place team also won a game, defeating Cincinnati 4 to 3, but the reduction in the number of games left to play deprived them of their last chance to win the title outright.

The victories of the two leaders left the Cards three games ahead and each has three more to play. Chicago can still gain a tie by sweeping the series with Cincinnati if St. Louis loses three straight to Pittsburgh, but one Cardinal victory or one Chicago defeat is all that is needed to settle the matter.

ATHLETIC PARK SUGGESTED FOR SOUTH OAK BAY

Municipality May Purchase Six Acres Adjacent to Victoria Avenue

SITE IS LEVEL AND ADMIRABLY ADAPTED

A suggestion for turning six acres, bounded on the north by Pentland Avenue, on the east by Victoria Avenue, and on the west by Falkland Road, into an athletic park for Oak Bay was last night referred by the council to a committee of the whole for further discussion.

H. Ross, who owns one of the three lots of two acres each, has offered to rent his land to the municipality for the nominal sum of $1 a year, upon the guarantee of the municipality buying the property at the end of a period of ten years for the sum of $6,000. The remaining two lots are owned by Pemberton & Son.

South Oak Bay has, at the present time, no land allotted for park purposes, and it was pointed out at last night's meeting that the property under consideration is practically the only remaining unadvised block of the required size.

Councillor Hew Patterson said that he was well acquainted with the land in question; that it was level, and would offer an admirable site for playground purposes. At the present time the property was being utilized as a playground for St. Michael's School.

THE BURNING SEA-OF-SANTORIN
FLAMES-25 FEET HIGH ISSUED FROM THE SEA—

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

Cy Young Retired Sixty-Three Batters in Succession—While Young was with the Boston Red Sox in 1904 sixty-three batters faced him in twenty-one successive innings, and not one reached first base. While pitching against Washington on April 30 he relieved a pitcher after the second inning and retired twenty-one batters. Young's next game was against Philadelphia on May 5, when he pitched a perfect game, retiring twenty-seven batters. On May 11 he retired fifteen Detroit batters in the first five innings.

Saba, the Oldest Island of the Indies—Saba, a picturesque island of the Lesser Antilles, is in reality little more than a volcanic rock, which rises like a tower into the air, and surrounds the inhabitable crater of the volcano. Next to shipbuilding, the knitting of socks is the chief industry of its Dutch inhabitants, and the males surpass the females in their skill with the knitting needles. The island belongs to Holland, but its official language is English.

The Accuracy of P.I. Carried Out Twenty-Five Places—P.I. (the ratio of the diameter to the circumference of a circle) when carried to twenty-five decimal places is so enormous a mathematical figure that its accuracy can be tested on a globe without the possibility of error. The formula of P.I. is carried to 707 decimal places, which is the longest evolved to date.

Sharkey-Campolo Bout Postponed Until October 3

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The Sharkey-Campolo fight scheduled for the Yankee Stadium was called off at 7:30 tonight on account of rain, and also, it is suspected, because it did not draw as well as the Madison Square Garden Corporation believed it should as an outdoor attraction. Sharkey, Campolo and their respective managers met William F. Carey, president, and Frank J. Bruen, general manager of the Garden, at Mr. Carey's apartment, and after a lengthy conference agreed to hold the fight October 3 indoors in the Garden. In order to stage the bout on this date, the Suarez-Miller bout will be postponed. To accommodate this bout, Mr. Carey took Friday from the rodeo billed to appear later at the Garden. As the Garden controls the rodeo it was possible to make this change.

Mrs. Jackson and Marjorie Todd to Clash for Crown

Former Puts Out Mrs. G. A. Bennett, Colwood, 8 and 7, While Fifteen-Year-Old Oak Bay Star Accounts for Mrs. James MacFarlane, 6 and 5, at Uplands Links

Great Battle Expected This Afternoon

This afternoon, at 2 o'clock, Mrs. E. Jackson, medalist and Uplands titleholder, and Marjorie Todd, fifteen-year-old youngster, bearing the colors of the Victoria Golf Club, will start an eighteen-hole trek over the beautiful fairways and greens of the Uplands Golf Club for the women's city golf championship. Both players worked their way to the finals by their one-sided victories yesterday in the semi-finals.

Mrs. G. A. Bennett, Colwood, who upset the odds Wednesday by defeating Mrs. B. R. Philbrick, who was defending her crown, succumbed to the fine display of Mrs. Jackson via the 8 up and 7 down margin. Marjorie Todd continued her brilliant march towards the title by putting out Mrs. James MacFarlane, 6 and 5.

Inclement weather greeted the semi-finals, but despite this handicap, some great golf was witnessed and both winners well deserved their victories. From the start, Mrs. Jackson and Miss Todd went out to win, and soon made short work of their opponents. Both losers fought hard, but try as they did, they could not stop the onward march of the winners, who exploded the same brand of golf as they have done all week.

EXPECT GREAT BATTLE
Although Mrs. Jackson will start off this afternoon a slight favorite, due to her long experience in tournaments, she will find in Miss Todd, a hard, youthful opponent, who will be in there fighting to her best ability. At Oak Bay last year

Miss Todd worked her way to the final bracket and after a great struggle she finally admitted defeat at the hands of Mrs. Philbrick, 2 and 1.

Two Uplands players will battle it out for the first flight honor this morning at 11 o'clock in Mrs. C. H. Eve, former club champion, and Mrs. R. A. Semple, captain. Mrs. Eve defeated Ines Carey, 7 and 6, while Mrs. Semple accounted for Mrs. C. E. Morris, 6 and 5. All the other flight champions were decided yesterday after some interesting matches.

THE RESULT
Yesterday's results follow:
Championship Flight—Semi-Final
Mrs. E. Jackson defeated Mrs. G. A. Bennett, 8 and 7.
Miss Marjorie Todd defeated Mrs. James MacFarlane, 6 and 5.
First Flight—Semi-Final
Mrs. C. H. Eve defeated Miss I. Carey, 7 and 6.
Mrs. R. A. Semple defeated Mrs. C. E. Morris, 6 and 5.
Second Flight—Final
Mrs. Alan Morik defeated Miss M. Wolfenden, 2 and 1.
Third Flight—Final
Mrs. T. H. Leeming defeated Miss Helen Wilson, 1 up.
Fourth Flight—Final
Mrs. Atwell King defeated Mrs. Barber-Starkley, 3 and 2.

BOBBY JONES' FRIENDS HAVE 1 TO 50 BET

Five Atlantans Post $10 Each at Great Odds With Lloyds on Golf Tourney

VICTORY IN U.S. MEET AND BETTERS COLLECT

(By a Staff Correspondent)
ATLANTA, Sept. 25.—Atlantans believe in their favorite golfing son, Bobby Jones.

That belief is not a sentimental hope, but is backed by several wagers at odds that will prove beneficial should the golf king come through Saturday's win the national amateur title.

Five close friends of Bobby early last Spring posted $50 at a rate of 1 to 50 that he would win the British amateur and open and American open and amateur championships this year and thus set an all-time record. Today those five friends stand a better than even chance to increase their capital at least $500.

Nearly $2,000 was refunded to other Atlantans who believed in Bobby and who wanted to share in the profits should he win out. The telegram from a Lloyds representative quoted the odds at $50 to $1 with a $2,000 limit. When the $2,000 was raised, a return wire was received quoting that amount as a maximum and all but $50 was refunded. Only those who were "in" at the start of the movement kept small sums of $50 each posted against $500.

More than a dozen Atlantans recently collected varying amounts at odds of 1 to 10 that the champion would not win the British open title.

UNVEILING TO TAKE PLACE THIS MONTH

Lafontaine Statue is Now Being Erected in Public Park at Montreal

MONTREAL, Sept. 25.—The unveiling of the statue of Sir Louis Hippolyte Lafontaine, Canadian statesman, which recently arrived in Montreal and is now being erected in Lafontaine Park, will take place on September 28. The granite base upon which the statue is to rest will be completed shortly and the work of placing the historic image in position is now being carried out.

At the special commemorative ceremony by which the unveiling will be marked, panegyric addresses of Lafontaine will be pronounced by Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux and in English by Hon. C. H. Cahane, Secretary of State.

The three laureates of a poetical contest, Abbe J. M. Melancon, J. A. Bailey and Robert Choquette, will read their poems. It has been arranged that in case of inclement weather the addresses will be delivered in the city library near the park. The date of the unveiling of the bronze plaques of the house at Boucherville, where Lafontaine was born, and on his vault at Cote des Neiges Cemetery will be decided later.

Sir Louis Hippolyte Lafontaine, the Canadian statesman, was born in 1807, educated in Montreal and practised law here. In 1850, a year after being called to the bar, he entered politics. He was a strong supporter of Papineau, but did not approve of violence, believing in constitutional methods of reform. He and Robert Baldwin had the honor of establishing the first Colonial ministry on an approved constitutional basis. It was during their ministry that the Amnesty Bill, better known as the Rebellion Losses Bill, was passed, which caused grave riots in Montreal, personal violence to Lord Elgin, then Governor-General, and the destruction of the Parliament Buildings then in Montreal.

He retired from public life in 1851, when the ministry went out of office. In 1853 he was appointed Chief Justice of Lower Canada and president of the seigniorial court, which settled the vexed question of land tenure in Canada. He was created a baronet in 1843 and died in Montreal in 1864. A joint monument to Lafontaine and Baldwin is in Ottawa.

BROADCAST BRIEFS OF THE AIR

Two full hours of entertainment of a very informal nature are promised in the Spotlight Review broadcast through the N.B.C. network tomorrow night, commencing at 10 o'clock.

Offering the usual combination of song and comedy the Review brings favorite N.B.C. radio artists to the microphone.

Listeners are promised another chapter of the farcical skit by Walter Boban, entitled "Further Adventures of Ambrose." Ambrose is a little colored boy who is trying to get along in the world.

No Spotlight Review would be complete without the "School Days" feature, and dialers may look forward to hearing Dick Le Grand in the role of the schoolmaster and all his unruly pupils.

Station KOMO will present the Spotlight Review for local listeners.

The Columbia Male Trio, consisting of Tom, Dick and Harry, will present a group of harmonized melodies over KVI and the Columbia Broadcasting network at 9:45 p.m. tomorrow.

The crackle of peanut shells and tankard, the resonant eloquence of the ring master and the hoof-beats of trick ponies—the old familiar sounds of circus days—will be heard through the N.B.C. chain tomorrow night when the Olinque Circus is presented from 8 to 9:30 o'clock.

Clowns, animals and circus band are all heard in turn, recreating the atmosphere of the ring. Western N.B.C. stations releasing this programme are KOMO, Seattle, and KGO, Oakland.

NEW PROGRAMME OFFERED BY CNRV STARTS NEXT WEEK

For the beginning of October, CNRV Vancouver offers new and interesting additions to its schedule, as well as a return of some previously popular entertainments.

On October 5 an hour and a half broadcast will be released over the Canadian National Chain, from Toronto, commencing at 6:30 p.m., and will include the Imperial Hour of Fine Music with which radio listeners became acquainted last winter.

On October 12 at 2 p.m. the programmes of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra will be released over the network.

Remembering those who appreciate a touch of comedy in their radio entertainment, CNRV presents "Room and Board," a serial musical comedy, featuring Mrs. F. R. Allen, one of the best-known stage personalities in Western Canada.

Every Wednesday evening at 10 o'clock will be broadcast an episode in the lives of Mrs. Timothy Harriett, who is a keeper of a boarding house, and her boarders.

Other new programmes are being formulated at present and will be announced later.

The German police have been asked, with English and Dutch authorities, by the New York police, to try to locate a secret short wave wireless receiving station or stations used for eavesdropping on transatlantic service.

By pressing a button in her home the Lady Mayores of Newcastle, England, recently opened a radio room in her castle, N.E.W., 12,000 miles away.

BUSINESS LEADERS OF CANADA TO ASSEMBLE

Annual Convention of Canadian Chamber of Commerce Will Open in Toronto on Oct. 7

TORONTO, Sept. 25.—Preparations are well under way for the fifth annual convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, here on October 7, 8 and 9.

With the prospect of inter-imperial trade measures and further Canadian tariff revisions, leaders of business will deliberate on some very contentious subjects.

Representative business heads will first make a tour of the chief centres of mineral and lumber production in Northern Ontario and Quebec.

The party will journey through Cochrane, Timmins, Swastika, Rouyn, Cobalt, North Bay and Sudbury. The great gold, silver and copper producing mines and smelters will be the main objectives of the tour.

CONVENTION PROGRAMME

Motor transportation and its control, commercial aviation and allied subjects will be studied on the afternoon of the first day of the convention, next Tuesday. Wednesday morning is devoted to problems of agricultural production and marketing, and at the luncheon co-operation of business with agriculture will be the main theme. Domestic distribution of goods, and interprovincial trade channels, along with prospects of fuller trade with South America, are taken up Wednesday afternoon.

EMPIRE MARKETING

Thursday, the third and last day of the convention, the delegates will consider whether an Empire marketing board should be established in Canada, as well as methods, whereby the Dominion can play a full share in promotion of inter-imperial trade. Colonel J. H. Woods, of Calgary, president, speaks at the Thursday luncheon.

A banquet will be tendered by the Provincial Government on the evening of October 7, and one by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce on October 9.

In connection with the convention a special meeting has been arranged at which secretarial work across the Dominion will be discussed, the formation of Boards of Trade or Chambers of Commerce and the conduct of these bodies, will be discussed.

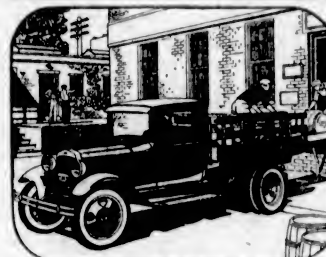

FORMER PREMIER OF AUSTRALIA PLANNING FOR NEXT ELECTION

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 25.—Rt. Hon. W. M. Hughes, Australia's Prime Minister from 1915 to 1923, has an ambitious programme as his Australian party's bid for popular support in the elections which the Commonwealth's financial plight might bring on much earlier than is usually the case.

Mr. Hughes unfolded his programme before an enthusiastic audience at Lane Cove. He declared the party stood for abolition of legislative councils, of state governors and reduction of state assemblies to half their present size.

The party also stands, said its leader, for encouragement of Australian industries, the establishment of food control boards, uniform basic wages, standard hours and no reduction of the individual's standard of living.

Hauling the Dominion's goods to market

IN MOVING GOODS from the factory to the dock, from loading-platform to loading-platform, from farm to market, the Ford truck meets the needs of safe, quick, and reliable transportation. You see it everywhere in Canada—in the cities, climbing ramps out of excavations, at the lumber-camps, or in the grain-fields—serving faithfully and economically, and hauling for profit day in and day out, through the hardest kind of road and weather conditions.

Many features contribute to the sturdiness, reliability, and long life of the Ford commercial units.

Among these are the forty different kinds of steel built into them; the more than twenty ball and roller bearings, and the extensive use of steel forgings. The shatterless glass windshields, the fully enclosed four-brake system, and the rugged construction throughout add an extra margin of safety. Two wheelbases are available—131½-inch and 157-inch.

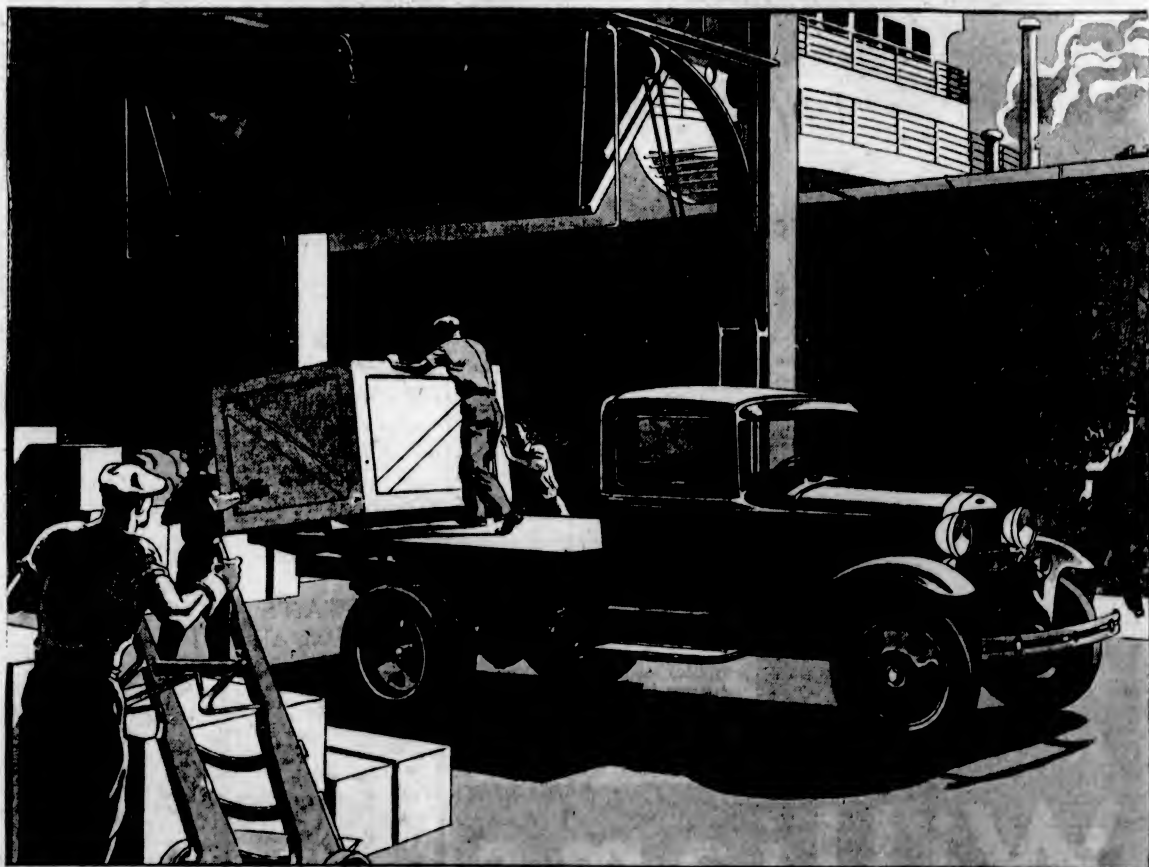

The low first cost and the low cost of operation of the Ford truck are made possible by the policy of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, to use the best materials and to share with the public the economies effected through the large-scale production of these materials.

Because business today moves at a rapid pace, it depends greatly upon the quick and certain transportation of goods from one point to another. Because the Ford truck is an efficient, profitable worker, it has earned a place in many businesses, large and small, throughout the length and breadth of Canada.

For all her strong nerves on which she prided herself, Mrs. Beresford was trembling as she said to Joyce: "I am prepared to hear what you have to say, but I must request you to be as brief as possible. We have so little in common that for the future there will be no need to see you again, Mrs. Hardy."

"Oh, don't speak like that," said Joyce. "I wish to make it as easy for you as I can, and you're making it so difficult. It's about Beatrice who wants all the love and pity we can give her. No, she's quite well—in her body I mean—you needn't have a doctor; he can't help her, but we can."

Mrs. Beresford was looking at her, convinced that Joyce was not answerable for her words.

"If that is so," she answered, "I shall go up to her room and she made for the door, but Joyce prevented her from opening it."

"Not yet," she cried, and Mrs. Beresford went back to her chair.

"You must hear what I have to tell you, first, Beatrice is . . ."

"For Heaven's sake let me know what you have to tell me," interrupted Mrs. Beresford. "I don't want to hear any more of this secret."

"It can't be kept a secret any longer. I shall go up to her room and she made for the door, but Joyce prevented her from opening it."

"Not yet," she cried, and Mrs. Beresford went back to her chair.

had seen. That in the mirror she had caught sight of Beatrice holding a small green bottle to her lips. That it had been dashed from her hand and Beatrice clasped in her arms which needed all their strength to prevent the flaccid body from falling. Neither Mrs. Beresford nor anyone else should ever know—not even Dick—how she saved Beatrice's life and carried her into another room.

"What is to be done? What is to be done?" and Mrs. Beresford repeated the cry wailing.

"You trust Dick—he'll be here presently. We'll go up to Beatrice now. You mustn't be frightened, but she is very weak and we shall have to look after her. Perhaps it would be as well to have a doctor. I'll explain enough to him."

Mrs. Beresford obeyed like a child, and they went slowly to Beatrice's room.

"Don't say much, and don't refer to it as Joyce's warning, but that 'it' had a terrible meaning."

"What an angel of mercy she proved herself in what followed," and how wise, Beatrice was sitting in an arm chair when they went into her room, very still, and Joyce knelt down at her side, taking her hand.

"You're better now," she said. "Your heart doesn't ache so much as it did, I hope, and for once in her life Joyce was deceitful. Mrs. Beresford would believe Beatrice had had a heart attack. The doctor, too. Lots of people suffered from their hearts, and it was true in Beatrice's case—in a way."

"If you take my advice, Beatrice," she went on, "you'll go to bed. I'll undress you and tomorrow—well, we'll wait until it comes. What do you say, Mrs. Beresford?"

"I'm sure Dr. Jarvis would recommend rest, my dear," was the reply, and in a strange passive manner Beatrice consented to rest.

Never was a woman more diplomatic than Joyce, when, after the doctor's visit, she took command of the household. Mrs. Beresford included. Even the bailiff's man was respectful to her, and Dick arrived.

"We'll let the door be kept open here for the night. He won't do any harm," he told Joyce. "You're going to see after Beatrice, I suppose?"

"I certainly am. There's no one else to be with her. Tell me what is going to happen next? She can't stay here."

"I had better tell you. Dick will be arrested on a charge of murdering someone. Prebble, to be exact."

CHAPTER XXIV

The person who demanded most attention in that hour of calamity was Mrs. Beresford, who offered no comfort nor counsel to her daughter but complained of the faintest noise in the room, saying it upset her and was very inconsiderate of Joyce to move. Saying it all in a peevish tone, although not a sound could be heard in the house. The broker's man, avoided as a leper, had eaten, drunk and smoked until he had retired to his slumbers in the kitchen armchair, and the night hours passed during which Joyce kept her faithful watch over Beatrice whilst Dick and Mr. Trudge discussed the position.

The only visitor to the house during the day save those infuriated tradesmen had been the bailiff, who could not be described as a friend by the widest imagination, and what name the servants gave him would have done equally well for an inmate of the Zoological Gardens. Beatrice's set had studiously shunned the street in which she lived, and told their wrongs to one another at their club with a heartless humor that added piquancy to the conversation.

Mr. Trudge's people—he always spoke of them as such—had been consulted by Dick and advised by them.

"Under ordinary circumstances," said Mr. Trudge, helping himself again, "the process would be slow. You see, Mr. Montford's word isn't sufficient, and it would be necessary to get evidence from Sydney."

"I suppose you are right, Trudge," replied Dick, "only the circumstances don't happen to be ordinary."

"Fortunately," said Mr. Trudge, "not for Redford, because it looks very probable to me that Redford is going to be hanged when they get him."

"You know the police were at his house last night?"

"So I've heard, and you may depend on it Mr. Hardy, but I don't think he disappeared if he was innocent. He's the sort of man who would have faced the other charge—risked getting imprisoned or made, perhaps, a servant."

"Murder's another thing," and the talk went on about Dick's affairs.

"You won't get those mesne profits I mentioned," said Mr. Trudge. "He and his wife have spent every shilling or I'm mistaken, but they couldn't get rid of your uncle's estate."

"If you'll believe me, I haven't thought much about it," answered Dick.

"Well, Blackstone Abbey is yours now and always has been since your uncle's death," and there was a pause in the talk.

"I shall want a hundred pounds tomorrow, Trudge," said Dick. "Somebody has put the bailiffs in at Mrs. Henshaw's—the name will drop out of him in the morning. Things are quite bad enough without her having to put up with that."

"Our people will let you have what you want, Mr. Hardy, but I don't think you'll get it. I've got to do the best I can for her, and with this Dick knocked out his pipe and retired."

"It will give the poor woman breathing time anyhow. Never mind whether it's wise or not. I've got to do the best I can for her, and with this Dick knocked out his pipe and retired."

He was early at Beatrice's house next morning, and released it from the bailiff's man before seeing Joyce.

"Beatrice is sleeping," she told him on coming into the dining-room. "Have you missed me, Dick? Very much?"

"Do you want me to answer that question?"

"No, I don't think I do," said Joyce, demurely. "And now I'm going to Mrs. Gervaise to ask her advice. You're coming with me."

"What about Mrs. Beresford?"

"I'm almost angry with her," replied Joyce. "She thinks only of herself and her own troubles."

"It's fearfully bad for both of them, but it might be worse. Beatrice stands a very good chance of being a widow and that's all to the good."

"I don't know what you mean," and Joyce gave a little shiver. "It's a fortunate thing Mrs. Beresford has enough to live on, but what a change it will be for Beatrice to go back to Paradise Villa after this."

and she glanced around at the costly furnished room. "Yet as you say it might be worse," and she recalled that scene in Beatrice's boudoir, which no one would ever know of, except herself.

Mrs. Gervaise was at her breakfast when Dick's taxi drew up at the door.

"I've been expecting you," she said in her bright way, "and now we're going to see what can be done. Your sister must come to my house. Joyce—I won't have her mother—she's got one of her own to go to, but her daughter hasn't. So I'll have her here, unless she's inclined to go back to Blackhaven."

"Beatrice won't agree to that, if I know anything of her," said Dick. "Well, there's my offer. She can please herself and I'll make her welcome. It's more than Ernestine Montrose would say or any of the other women who have toiled to her."

"I'll speak to Beatrice," replied Joyce. "She is very much altered."

"I've forgiven her," continued Mrs. Gervaise. "She is only like a number of other women who have had their head turned by marrying a rich husband, but I hope to goodness there are not many like her's. Has he been caught, Mr. Hardy?"

"I haven't heard that he has."

"Then we won't talk about him. What a world it is, to be sure—full of surprises. I've had one myself. Joyce, I won't say what I think of my dear old friend Aylmer Devaynes but he's married—at a registrar's office of all places. Married to an actress, young enough to be his daughter. What do you say to that?"

"That I hope he'll be as happy as I am," answered Joyce.

"He never will be. May and December are too very different months in the year, but men are the most foolish creatures ever created," and she gave Dick a sly look. "Don't take that to yourself, my friend," she added, and went on to speak about Beatrice, what could be done for her and how she could be best helped, for with all her harmless satirical speeches, Mrs. Gervaise had a tender heart.

When Joyce went back to Beatrice's house it was impossible not to notice the great change in it. The door was opened by the only servant who had remained loyal to her mistress, for the others, after frightening Mrs. Beresford into paying their wages had all fled. There was dust upon the furniture and polished floors, empty grates from which yesterday's ashes had not been taken away, the remains of a meal upon the dining-room table, all the signs of a catastrophe that had fallen on the mistress of the house, who was indifferent to everything on which she had prided herself hitherto. Her life seemed to have ended that night when Joyce struck the poison from her hand, and she had been moving aimlessly from room to room, whilst Joyce was away, a listless, pathetic figure of despair.

Her one longing was to hide herself from the sight of those whom she had believed to be her friends, and Mrs. Gervaise's offer was declined—there was a suspicion of her old haughtiness in this, yet an unspoken gratitude was in her heart. What Mrs. Beresford's feelings were, no description could have done justice to, and, refusing to return to Blackhaven to be the subject of curiosity and pity, Dick took a small cottage in the country for her and Beatrice, to which they removed two days later.

THE LETTER "J"

The letter "J" has not—as some may be pardoned for believing—always been with us. It is, in fact, a comparative modern acquisition of our alphabet, its advent dating back to about the middle of the 17th century, in England.

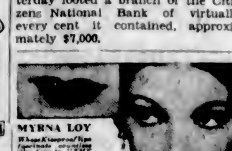

At the time of which we are writing, people used to add a little cursive to the "I" whenever it appeared as the final letter in combinations of Roman numerals such as viii for 8 and xii for 12.

Up to this time there was no letter "J." The letter "I" served for both the vowel sound as in the word "ire" and for the consonant as in the word "jet," which was spelled "iot."

Because of the confusion resulting from this circumstance, there resulted an early example of simplified spelling. The "I" was adopted for use instead of the "I" whenever it was sounded as a consonant. However, as late as the beginning of the 19th century, both "I" and "J" appear in Johnson's dictionary as one letter.

Impy Meets a Cousin

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Such friends we have as we may make; Our relatives we have to take.

—Striped Chipmunk.

Despite the warning he had received from his father, Striped Chipmunk, Impy the black Chipmunk persisted in staying out later than any of the others of his family. He liked to be out after the coming of the Black Shadows. You see, owing to that black coat of his, he felt very safe then. He felt that he couldn't be seen as he went out at night. Quite naturally, he knew very little about the night-seeing folk, the ones who like best to hunt at night. He knew nothing about eyes made for seeing in the dark. Sometimes he himself could see very little by the time he went to bed. He didn't know that there were others who could see very well at that hour. To be sure, Striped Chipmunk had told him about the Owl family, but never having seen a member of the Owl family, he couldn't understand about those wonderful night-seeing eyes.

As a rule, Impy did not venture far from the entrance to his home after the coming of the Black Shadows. He usually sat where he could dive right into that entrance at the first alarm. Once in a while, however, when he felt a little bolder than usual, he would venture farther away from home. It happened one afternoon that Impy was quite a little distance from home when the first of the Black Shadows came creeping across the Green Meadows. He really wasn't far away. At least, you wouldn't have thought it far. But it was far enough, so that in case of danger he would have to scamper a little way before he could dive to safety between the stones of the old wall.

Now, of course, the wise and proper thing would have been for Impy to start for home as soon as that first Black Shadow reached the old stone wall. But he didn't. He waited for a second Black Shadow to come, and then a third and a fourth. Up overhead he saw the first little stars begin to twinkle. He doubted if his brothers and sisters had ever seen a twinkling star. He felt very bold and very brave.

Up overhead he saw the first little stars begin to twinkle

"I'm not afraid," said he to himself. "I don't see why people should be afraid just because it is dark. Why, I have never had a single real scare after the coming of the Black Shadows. I suppose that those Owls that my father told me about are dangerous; but I guess if I watch out I needn't worry about them."

Just then there was a little soft thump almost beside Impy. It was so unexpected that he almost lost his balance. He did start to run when a voice said, "What is your hurry, Cousin?"

Impy stopped. Any one who called him cousin could hardly be dangerous. He looked. There was a member of the Squirrel family not so very much bigger than himself. Cautiously, Impy took a step nearer. "Who are you?" he asked. "One of your cousins," replied the little stranger. "I am Timmy the Flying Squirrel."

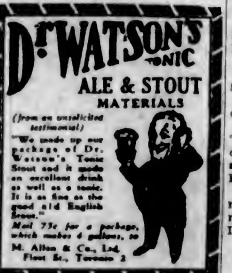

"The what?" cried Impy. Timmy chuckled. "The Flying Squirrel," said he.

"Do you really fly?" cried Impy, opening his eyes very wide.

"No," said he, chuckling again. "A lot of people think I do, but I don't. You see, I haven't real wings, and how can one fly without wings? By the way, are you a Chipmunk?"

"Certainly. Of course I'm a Chipmunk. I'm just as much a Chipmunk as any other Chipmunk, only I have a black coat," replied Impy. (Copyright, 1930, T. W. Burgess)

NANAIMO AMATEURS STAGE LIGHT OPERA

Sparkling Comedy Scores Great Success in Opening Performance

NANAIMO, Sept. 25.—A good sized audience was in attendance last evening at the Bijou Theatre, to see the opening night's performance of "In the Garden of the Shah," which was held in aid of St. Paul's building fund, and was displayed by local talent. The affair proved to be a success from every point of view.

The setting was of far-away Persia. The opera, light and airy, was under the able direction of Mr. Joseph Hinton, who was also an eight-piece orchestra, which formed an excellent background for the musical numbers. The play abounds with sparkling comedy. The costumes were amazingly correct, and the different characters were finely portrayed by well-known people.

Miss Dorothy Trawford, in the role of Princess Zohrab, daughter of the Shah, sang and danced like a prima donna. Miss Lenora Davidson gave excellent support in the musical numbers, and made a beautiful Lailah, the confident of the princess. Tom Vickers and Abe Hamilton acted and sang well; Jack Reynolds, a gentleman of color from Texas, who won the heart of a sorceress and lived on dates thereafter, provided excellent comedy, and J. Leslie Reynolds, who interpreted the role of an Arab Sheikh, were both stars. Charles R. Lee as Perunah, the Shah, was hard to beat. Miss Eileen Clarke did clever acting as Nowobeh. Her makeup was splendid, and with Jack Reynolds, whom she claimed as her reincarnated African prince, kept the audience convulsed with sparkling comedy. The costumes of the chorus girls and male attendants were admirable. Others in the cast were: Misses E. Dickinson, R. Foster, S. Whyman, A. Robinson, P. Turley, M. Parkes, E. Rutherford and M. Callaghan. Merdames C. Trawford, A. R. Akenhead, T. Cannon, J. Renney, N. Nodon and T. Bennett; Messrs. W. W. Hewlett, M. Armstrong, J. H. Harker, F. Smith, Alf Jones, Ted Scott, T. Carnelly and F. Robinson.

ALFRED H. LOMAS SENT UP TO HIGHER COURT

DUNCAN, Sept. 25.—Alfred H. Lomas, Indian agent at Duncan, charged with misappropriation of Government funds, was committed for trial at the conclusion of the preliminary hearing held here today. W. C. Moreau, K.C., appeared for the department.

Lomas, it is alleged, sold timber on the Cowichan Indian Reserve No. 1, on the Copper Island Reserve No. 7 and the Chemainus Reserve No. 13, and deposited the money in the Bank of Montreal to the credit of the A. H. Lomas trust account, without making monthly returns to the Indian Department, and then used the money for himself. He had intended to return the money later, it was stated, but had not been able to do so.

Evidence was given by W. E. Ditchburn, commissioner of Indian affairs, and by J. D. Caldwell, Indian agricultural agent.

Former Craigflower Church Burns Down

Fire on Wednesday destroyed a building which many years ago was church at Craigflower Bridge, but which has since been removed to Colwood and for use as a barn on the Peat property. A cow imprisoned in the barn and owned by Mrs. Ernie Peat could not be released and was burned to death in the blazing structure. A quantity of harness was also lost.

At The Playhouses

DOMINION Since its first appearance in 1922, Alice Miller's best-seller novel, "Manslaughter," has become an American classic. Now it has been made into a thrilling, all-talking melodrama, with Claudette Colbert and Fredric March in the leading roles. "Manslaughter" will feature the Dominion Theatre programme today and Saturday.

CAPITOL Ranking as one of the best dialogue and musical-circus dramas ever presented on a local screen, "Swing High," a Pathe talker featuring six-teen all-star stage and screen players cannot remain indefinitely in Turpin, Dorothy Burgess, Helen Twelvetrees, George Fawcett and Fred Scott, was presented with excellent results at the Capitol Theatre yesterday.

COLUMBIA Hoot Gibson, whose latest Universal Western drama, "The Mounted Stranger," is now at the Columbia Theatre, has performed breakneck stunts with horses, airplanes, automobiles and motorcycles in recent pictures. Airplanes and motorcycles supplemented horses as thrill-makers in "The Winged Horseman." In "The Mounted Stranger," his hair-raising stunts are performed on horseback.

COLISEUM Joan Barry, the intriguing little lady of many delightful stage productions, is another recruit from the stage to the screen, and it is no secret now that she was Anne O'Driscoll's ghost in "Blackmail," but in "Atlantic" she is not only seen but heard. "Atlantic" is now showing at the Coliseum Theatre.

PLAYHOUSE Marie Prevost, prominent player in "Ladies of Leisure," Columbia all-talking roadshow attraction now showing at the Playhouse Theatre, has built up a reputation for herself in sophisticated comedy roles. She is particularly satisfied with her role in "Ladies of Leisure."

WORLD'S FOREMOST TENOR TO BE HEARD

The fact that at the Dominion Theatre, beginning Monday, local movie lovers are to have the privilege of both seeing and hearing the world's greatest tenor through the medium of a Fox movie-tone production, in which he is starred, brings to mind the thought that, to speak of John McCormack's success is to invite a certain uniformity, so unvaried is his long list of triumphs. "Song of My Heart" is the latest in the series.

A famous editor recently wrote: "John McCormack's voice and art have given more real delight and inspiration to a greater number of people than any other voice of all time. He has taken happiness and peace into thousands upon thousands of homes."

B.C. RESOURCES DRAW INTEREST

Exhibits From Province Admired by Crowds at Toronto Exhibition

MANY QUESTIONS ASKED
More than 2,000,000 people saw British Columbia's exhibit of natural resources at the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto this year. It is stated by Major H. T. Nation, of the Bureau of Mines, who returned to Victoria recently. At the rate of 200,000 a day, people streamed through the British Columbia section of the exhibition, and took keen interest in the many exhibits shown in mines, fisheries, agriculture and forest branches. Four tons of minerals were shown in the mines display, including forty-seven different varieties of metallic and non-metallic deposits. Giant cubes revealed the relative production of copper, lead, zinc and silver, the chief commercial ores of the province. Automatic slide machines displayed seventy views of mining in all its phases. One automobile manufacturer from the Southern States learned that cadmium from Trail is now being used in place of chrome for nickel surfacing. Women examining the soft and soapy hair rock heard how this becomes face powder. Kindred human interest details made the British Columbia exhibit a popular section of the show. Excellent displays were also made of the lumber, fish and agricultural products of the province, each in charge of able assistants, who added much to the effectiveness of the show by their ability to answer

HOME OIL DROPS
TO $3.80 LEVEL

Sharp Recession Follows Recent Advances on Vancouver Stock Market

MANY ISSUES DECLINE

VANCOUVER, Sept. 25.—Weakness of Eastern markets and a surge of profit taking had its effect on prices on the Vancouver Stock Exchange today and values dropped as quickly as they had risen yesterday. Mayland Oil continued to lead the market in point of activity and dropped 28 cents to 1.43, as compared with its gain of 36 cents yesterday. Home Oil's drop was even more drastic, this issue slumping to 3.80, off 40 cents, as compared with an advance of only 5 cents yesterday. Other losses among the oil issues, ranging from 7 to 12 cents, were sustained by Calmont, A.P. Consolidated, Vanita and C. & E. Corporation. Hargal provided the market with its only bright spot, advancing 6 cents to 31.

Mines were again a negligible market factor, and with the exception of the Mischaw, which dropped 4 cents to 56, generally moved in narrow range.

CRANBROOK—John H. Fink, one of the earliest of the district's pioneers, is dead here at the age of sixty-six years. Mr. Fink came to Fort Steele in 1893 from Spokane, when all shipping in the district was done by boat from that centre. He founded the Fort Steele Mercantile Company, which later was moved to Cranbrook.

MADMAN MAY HAVE ESCAPED BY AIRPLANE

Strange Machine Seen in Sky Following Killing Rouses Suspicion

INDIANS KEEP WATCH ON RIVER FOR BODY

WILLIAMS LAKE, Sept. 25.—Since the increased reward of $1,000 has been offered for the finding of Oosen Spencer, who disappeared on September 10, following his alleged shooting of Edward Smith and W. H. Stoddard, most of the Indian trackers have moved away from the scene of the tragedy in the vicinity of Deer Creek Ranch, and are found scattered on the Chilcotin and Fraser rivers, the majority of them keeping vigil near the wood jams in the Fraser at Big Bar, fifty miles east of Clinton and about fifty miles north of Lillooet.

RELIEVED DROWNED

In the past, the bodies of people drowned in the Fraser at different points as far north as the Prince George Canyon were found later in the wood jams in the Big Bar section.

The Indians and others, including the police officers, who have combed the bush and timber areas adjacent to Deer Creek Ranch for nearly two weeks, are pretty well convinced that Spencer was drowned in the Chilcotin River.

Another theory is that, owing to his superhuman cunning, when people thought him suffering from intermittent insanity, he had his escape pre-arranged by the engagement of airplane service to come to his aid at the particular time, and that he was carried far afield to parts unknown.

STRANGE AIRPLANE

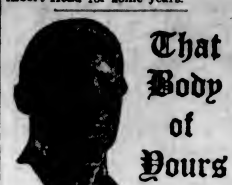

To lend support to that view, it is a strange coincidence that many reliable people in the vicinity report seeing an airplane two days after the tragedy sailing over the town, and traveling easterly sailing at an immense height. It would have passed over unnoticed except for the fact that people were eagerly watching the manoeuvres of the plane operated by Barney Boe, the owner of the Cedar Creek Gold Mine, who happened to be in town with a keg of gold for the bank that day.

START NEW FOX FARM

A. W. Hurst Boram, fox farmer of Saskatchewan, and secretary of the Provincial Association, who spent several months on the Coast investigating the possibility of fox farming, made final arrangements with a local fox farm to ranch and care for all his animals.

Mr. Hurst Boram has gone to Saskatoon to bring his foxes here and he also intends settling here. The General Fur Farms, Ltd., is now engaged in constructing an up-to-date fox ranch on the Colwood property. The latest equipment in electric meat and bone grinders and cooling rooms is being installed. The company expects to have this unit complete and fully stocked with fifty pairs of high-class breeding foxes.

A shipment arrived at Victoria today for E. P. Ashe, Albert Head. Mr. Ashe has been fox breeding in Albert Head for some years.

NEW POINTS FOR HEART CASES

Although heart disease carries off more than any other single ailment, and although many readers might think that if less were said about this it would be better for all of us, nevertheless there are certain simple things that can be done in these cases that will prolong life for years.

For instance, a damaged heart should not be made to do more work than is absolutely necessary. If you have a damaged heart and allow yourself to retain infected teeth, you are putting a considerable amount of extra work on the heart muscle. If you allow yourself to have attacks of indigestion through lack of chewing the food or carelessness about your diet, you are going to interfere with the action of the heart owing to gas formation and pressure, whether that pressure comes from gas in the stomach or in the large intestine.

Although water or liquid in some form is necessary for health, drinking too much water can give the heart more work to do than is absolutely necessary. That is why cutting down on table salt is wise.

Another point to remember is that the heart is all muscle—no other tissue in it except the nerves supplying the muscle. And as you know, when muscles work they need food, and the most efficient and valuable food to cause them to work well is sugar.

There is no question but that the majority of us eat enough sugar. It is a good cheap food, and one that appeals to the taste.

However, there is one place that sugar is especially valuable. Dr. Loeper and Lemaire, French research physicians, tell us that the diet of patients with heart disease is of greater importance than has been considered heretofore. They especially stress the importance of sufficient intake of sugars, the need for which is not fully met by a milk diet, but should be supported by eating pure sugar.

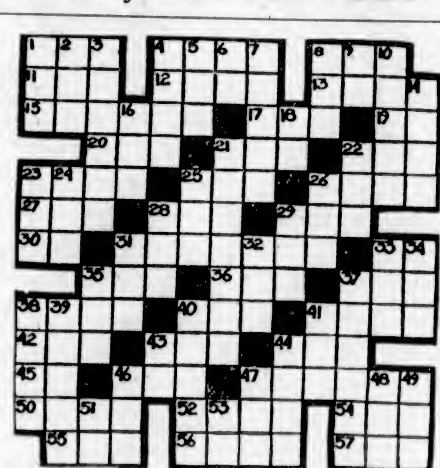

Although most individuals with damaged hearts, or organic heart disease as it is called, are watching that they have rest periods during the day, and are perhaps taking digitalis or some other drug to steady and strengthen the beat, nevertheless they are not careful about the diet and do not realize the harm that may come from indigestion.

I believe these two points—keeping free from indigestion, and eating sugar—should mean much in the lives of these heart cases.
